c. UN Women Terms of Reference

- Introduction

- a. Background/Context for required services/results

UN Women grounded in the vision of equality enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations, works for the elimination of discrimination against women and girls; the empowerment of women; and the achievement of equality between women and men as partners and beneficiaries of development, human rights, humanitarian action and peace and security. Placing women's rights at the centre of all its efforts, UN Women leads and coordinates the United Nations system efforts to ensure that commitments on gender equality and gender mainstreaming translate into action throughout the world. It provides strong and coherent leadership in support of Member States' priorities and efforts and builds effective partnerships with civil society and other relevant actors.

UN Women Egypt Strategic Plan (2018-2022) focuses on promoting gender equality and women's empowerment in line with the 2014 Egyptian Constitution and relevant international norms and standards. Egypt's 2018-2022 UN Partnership Development Framework (UNPDF) considers that 'dealing with issues of women's social and economic empowerment must be at the forefront of the UN's support in the economic and social arenas. The Egyptian National Women's Strategy (NWS) 2030 focuses on four pillars: (a) women's leadership and political participation; (b) women's economic empowerment; (c) women's social empowerment; and (d) protection of women. 'Changing prevailing cultural norms' and 'legislative change' are included as cross-cutting enablers.

Financial inclusion has been identified as a valuable tool in fostering women's economic empowerment, increasing their capacity to face risk and unexpected expenses, and participate in the sustainable economic growth. Financial inclusion relates to people (especially low income), households' and MSMEs' access to a full range of useful and affordable quality financial products and services that meet their needs – such as accounts, savings, payments and transfers, credit, and insurance and others - in a responsible and sustainable manner, within a legal and regulatory environment conducive to their development, by a range of formal service providers.

Financial inclusion is specifically important for women and girls in the sense that it can increase their empowerment and improve gender equality in a number of ways. Firstly, by having access to resources and tools, women's bargaining power within households will increase and in turn upsurge their influence and ability of decision making. Secondly, financial inclusion can support women sustain their own income, control assets outside the household and have a contribution to productive activities. Thirdly, financial inclusion can reduce women's vulnerability and dependency on male family members by having access to financial opportunities to smooth consumption or meet unexpected expenses. Furthermore, women who are financially excluded lack access to basic financial services, which in turn has an impact on their access to household expenditures (for food, health, education, etc.) and expenditures for business.

The current environment in Egypt holds huge potential for women's financial inclusion. Egypt's National Women's Empowerment Strategy 2030 and its accompanying pillar on Women's Economic Empowerment list women's access to economic resources through increased access to financial services as an important objective. The CBE co-hosted the 9th Global Policy Forum of the Alliance for Financial Inclusion (AFI), held in September 2017. In his opening speech President H.E. Abdel Fattah El Sisi emphasised the high-level political commitment for financial inclusion in the country, especially for women. Financial inclusion has moved to the top of the development policy agenda and gained a great deal of traction, and the President's speech illustrated a clear link between financial inclusion and the crucial need to improve the quality of the lives, and financial inclusion should "not only improve lives but also become part of an engine of economic growth and sustainable development". Linking financial inclusion with sustainable development resonates well with the emerging thinking on the subject (FIMENA, 2017).

Strong political will for regulatory reform is already evident, particularly with the approval of the Microfinance Law (No. 141 of 2014) that strengthens regulations for microcredit provided by the non-bank financial institutions. In 2016, the CBE also approved 'Mobile Payment Services Regulations', allowing customers to transfer funds and remittances via their mobile accounts. Political commitment is further demonstrated by the establishment of the 'National Payments Council', headed by President El Sisi, in February 2017, which supports electronic payment systems. In addition, the Supreme Council for Digital Transformation, headed by the Prime Minister, was established in 2019 with the aim of creating an enabling infrastructure for all forms of digital transformation. The Egyptian Cabinet has also approved a new banking draft law that facilitates FI activities with one chapter dedicated to payment systems and services and financial technology, with the introduction of rules, policies and mechanisms to transform into a society less dependent on banknotes which would enhance financial inclusion with a focus on low-income groups, youth, and women in small and medium enterprises. It would also work to integrate the informal economy into the formal economy. Furthermore, a national payment under the brand name, Meeza, was introduced to avail an affordable means of transaction to enable individuals and businesses to proceed with their financial transaction. And, in 2019, the CBE established a fund (EGP 1 billion) to invest in FinTech in Egyptian startups and encourage a culture of innovation and entrepreneurship.

These efforts have been internationally recognised, and in July 2017, Egypt was chosen as a model in the new World Bank Financial Inclusion Global Initiative. In September 2017, the Central Bank of Egypt and the National Council for Women signed a Memorandum of Understanding to work together to foster women's financial inclusion in Egypt, with SGs expansion as one of the key objectives of the MOU. These developments pave the way for programs to create financial inclusion of all in Egypt, especially the rural women.

Although Egypt has made a huge leap in financial inclusion, most Egyptian women, especially rural women, do not use formal financial services and the majority of adults in the poorest communities do not deal with banks. Overall, Egypt has made massive stride to almost double the number of people with accounts in formal institutions, but the overall penetration is still relatively low (32.8%). Rural accounts outreach is lower (29% against 33% nationally). While the rate of formal account penetration among women has more than tripled between 2011 and 2017 (from 7% to 27%), it is still less than the rate among men (39% in 2017), and the gender gap has kept increasing (from 6 percentage points in 2011 to 12 in 2017).

Women who are financially excluded lack access to basic financial services, which in turn has an impact on their access to household expenditures (for food, health, education, etc.) and expenditures for business. Many therefore, depend on informal sources of finance, generally at unfairly high interest rates. It is in this context that financial inclusion initiatives aimed at women and managed by women assume greater importance.

What are Savings Groups (SGs)?

SGs were first introduced in Egypt in 2009 through the Banking of Change programme. In 2013, UN Women in collaboration with the National Council for Women and CARE INGO implemented a 5-year EU-funded project entitled “Securing Rights and Improving Livelihoods of Women” (SRILW) that established more than 1,000 SGs in rural areas across Egypt, including Assiut, Minya and Beni Suef, reaching nearly 19,000 members (92% of which were women). From 2014-2017, UN Women SGs members’ weekly savings increased three to four times, on average saving more than 4.5 million EGP, however, those amounts are outside of the formal financial sector.

SGs are highly decentralized, non-institutional savings-led approach to microfinance. SGs have evolved specific approaches whereby members provide their own savings and credit services at low cost, while retaining earnings and capital in their own communities. They are simple, transparent, and autonomous. They are normally comprised of 15-25 individuals, often neighbours in the same village, who express interest (group members decide who can join). Members meet weekly and deposit a small amount into a savings box (or through mobile wallet). In each SG, three women keep a key to the box (all three must be turned simultaneously to open the box). A record-keeper notes weekly contributions and the share from each member. A typical savings cycle lasts 10 months and members are repaid according to their shares. During that cycle, the SG can give out small loans to members for business activities. The loan repayment schedule and interest are determined by the group, and all disputes are handled internally. Income generated from interest payments is added to the savings box and distributed according to shares. A small portion of the total savings are diverted to a “solidarity fund” which can be used to help members in extraordinary circumstances (the decision on who should receive such funds is made through a vote).

b. General Overview of services required/results

Based on the lessons learned from previous SGs programmes and applying best practices from global experiences, UN Women is embarking on a programme on “Women’s Financial and Economic Inclusion in Rural Egypt”, to be implemented under the umbrella of the MOU signed between the NCW and CBE to advance women’s financial inclusion in Egypt. The said programme will support the evidence around the SGs model in Egypt for financial and economic inclusion.

The overall goal of the programme is to utilise the SGs approach to mobilise vulnerable rural women for deeper and wider financial inclusion, a group that continues to be unreached by banks and microfinance institutions alike. SGs will support poor and vulnerable groups to shift from informal to formal financial system and empower them through increased access to financial savings and the safe custody of funds, financial literacy awareness and opportunities for access to formal credit. The mutual support that members will provide to each other will also help them gain confidence to participate in local markets as well as value chains. SGs will also provide a space for addressing discriminatory cultural norms and to act as a catalyst for enhanced social capital and women’s leadership in the household and community levels.

Specifically, the programme will focus on creating and expanding SGs in the governorates of Minya and Beni-Suef to create a wider base for women’s financial inclusion. It will support women’s financial and economic empowerment through:

- provision of financial literacy awareness, including through testing use of gamification;
- facilitating women’s access to savings and loans out of the accumulated savings of the group;
- ability to use those savings and/or loans to invest in their wellbeing and/or that of their children (health and education) and/or to start and expand a business. SGs can also serve as a steppingstone for women to access larger credit from responsible microfinance institutions;
- capacity development for women members of SGs on business development and technical skills to start income-generating projects in areas that are based on the governorates competitive advantage and support the women-led clusters/SGs to be integrated into higher value chains.

Programme Outcomes and Outputs:

For the purpose of this call for proposal, UN Women seeks collaboration with NGOs partners to deliver on the below indicative activities that include but are not limited to the following:

Overall objective and expected impact:

Outcome: Rural women are socially and economically empowered through their participation in Savings Groups across Egypt to access basic financial services and build their financial and economic capabilities

Output: Saving Groups (SGs) capacities are scaled-up through digital and non-digital means.

The primary objective of this output will be to expand SG outreach in the Governorates of Minya and Beni-Suef to reach 60,000 women and girls. UN Women will implement this output in partnership with the NCW and the selected NGO.

It will focus on the formation and training of SGs through building a cadre of qualified community-based trainers able to form and train SGs and provide ongoing support (e.g. ensure that SGs members understand and follow rules, assist SGs members with some calculations such as figuring out their share-out or help resolve disputes), based on a structured training process that is continuously refined to incorporate cutting-edge knowledge and lessons learned.

The selected NGO will conduct Training of Trainers (TOT) to the cadre of trainers who will be selected from among rural women leaders (around 800), based on criteria developed in consultation with the NCW, to ensure SGs sustainability. This approach will ensure expansion of SGs to facilitate participation of 60,000 women members over the programme period.

UN Women will sign an agreement with the selected NGO to develop and oversee the provision of TOT. In addition, UN Women will review the training material on SGs to ensure that it meets quality standards based on international good practices in this field, identify gaps in the existing training material and provide support in either developing new training content or coordinating with other national stakeholders to build on existing material.

SGs are not only conduits for women's financial and economic inclusion, but they can serve as a powerful way to build social capital through a community of women who meet regularly and discuss financial, as well as non-financial topics. To this end, SGs will be leveraged as a platform to discuss and educate on important societal issues such as preventing violence against women, the abandonment of female genital mutilation, the importance of women's economic empowerment and agency in family financial affairs, etc.

Moreover, to ensure that SGs are digitally registered, all partners will adopt a standard methodology for SGs under a digital application that might be tagged under the national programme "Taa Marbouta" where information on SGs members are fed into this application through SGs facilitators which would be more effective and cost-efficient for the expansion of SGs programme. Accordingly, rural women leaders and local NGOs will be equipped with mobile phones and access to technology to support with the introduction and registration of the SGs.

Description of required services/results

- Organize SGs introductory meetings and outreach events in the respective governorates in coordination with NCW through engaging rural women leaders as well as community/natural leaders through meetings and use of mobile platforms, including social media platforms. The meetings will target SGs stakeholders at the community level to ensure they understand and accept the SGs methodology. The focus of these sessions will be on explaining the mechanisms of the SGs and how it can help the community thrive as an entity. The primary aim of this activity will be to create a positive and supportive ground for the communities to participate in the SGs expansion program. All in-person meetings must comply with physical distancing restrictions as per GoE regulations.
 - Target: 20 meetings per governorate
- Contribute to the development of a standard training package and tools on the formation and capacity development of SGs for different target audiences, including community leaders. Training material and pedagogy will follow adult learning principles and will incorporate locally relevant exercises and tools. UN Women will work with the selected NGO to capitalize on the experience and lessons learned from its previous EU-funded project that established Savings Groups in order to refine and update the training package. Trainings will be provided through traditional approach of face-to-face, if the health situation on the ground permits, as well as online, where possible.
 - Target: one training package and training tools on formation and training of SGs is developed in cooperation with UN Women and NCW
- Scale up the creation and training of SGs in the intervention governorates to reach 60,000 women members over the duration of the project: the training will follow a cascading training approach whereby a core group from the villages will be trained on the SGs training package and after they are qualified as SGs trainers, they go on to train other groups in the villages (training of trainers) and surrounding areas for a fee. The core group will include rural women leaders, community members and staff of local NGOs and will be selected based on a clear selection-criteria developed in conjunction with NCW. This approach will ensure the expansion of SGs in a sustainable manner and that SGs continue to run and expand in other areas beyond the duration of the project. The selected INGO(s) will develop and oversee the provision of TOT under the supervision of UN Women and NCW.

- Target: 60 TOT workshops
 - Target: 800 community-based trainers
 - Target: 3,000 SGs established with around 60,000 SGs members
 - Target: 30-50% increase in financial savings of women SGs
- Enhance the leadership skills of women community leaders including on skills to enable them to become effective community advocates such as on the effective use of mobile phone and internet to spread awareness, effective organization skills, community mobilization, storytelling, etc.
 - Target: 20 training workshop or meetings targeting 800 women leaders in the two governorates
 - Purchase supplies for SG such as passbooks, boxes, locks and other supplies (pens, calculators) to ensure the functionality of the SGs mechanism.
 - Target: all SGs have access to supplies needed to ensure a well-functioning SGs.
 - Leverage SGs regular meetings to examine discriminatory gender norms through training community workers on gender inequality issues such as the abandonment of FGM, prevention of early, child and forced marriage, violence against women, etc. to enable them to convey these messages correctly to rural women.
 - Target: 20 training workshop or meetings targeting 800 women leaders in the two governorates

Geographic areas: Minya and Beni-Suef

Expected deliverables:

- Submit annual work plans for the implementation of the proposed activities and the specified targets. The work plan should reflect the expected output, activities and indicators in line with the outcome/ output and of the project, with specific timeframe. The work plan should factor in government approval procedures (if required).
- Baseline for the project: Collect data based on agreed upon M&E framework including completing a baseline. Data should be segregated by {area of intervention, profile for participants (age/ education/ literacy level/ social status/ economic activity, etc.)};
- Quarterly narrative and financial reports: Submit quality narrative and financial reports in line with UN Women's reporting guidelines. Collect and disseminate human interest stories, success stories, participants' quotes, analysis for pre/post participants' assessment for trainings received; knowledge products produced, high-quality photos, etc.;

- 20 SGs introductory meetings and outreach events per governorate that engage rural women leaders as well as community/natural leaders as well as dissemination of outreach messages on benefits of SGs through mobile and social media platforms, where applicable.
- 60 Training of Trainers workshops to create and train SGs in the two governorates. The ToT workshops target 800 community-based trainers with the objective of including at least 60,000 women members in SGs over the duration of the project following the training approach described above. Trainings should be supported by pre/post assessment reports to measure the skills acquired by participants and identify gaps for further enhancement. Community-based trainers should be identified in coordination with the National Council for Women;
- Form at least 3,000 SGs targeting 60,000 members in Minya and Beni-Suef and enhance their savings and financial capacity. Signature on the certificate represents that the proponent has read this CFP, understands it and agrees to be bound by its terms and conditions. The proponent’s proposal with any subsequent modifications and counter-proposals, if applicable, shall become an integral part of any resulting contract.

7.4 Late proposals: Any proposals received by UNWOMEN after the deadline for submission of proposals prescribed in this document, may be rejected.

9. Clarification of proposals

To assist in the examination, evaluation and comparison of proposals, UNWOMEN may, at its discretion, ask the proponent for a clarification of its proposal. The request for clarification and the response shall be in writing and no change in the price or substance of the proposal shall be sought, offered or permitted. UNWOMEN will review minor informalities, errors, clerical mistakes, apparent errors in price and missing documents in accordance with the UNWOMEN Policy and Procedures.

10. Proposal currencies

All prices shall be quoted in (Local currency) Egyptian Pounds (EGP)

UNWOMEN reserves the right to reject any proposals submitted in another currency than the mandatory currency for the proposal stated above. UNWOMEN may accept proposals submitted in another currency than stated above if the proponent confirms during clarification of proposals, see item (8) above in writing, that it will accept a contract issued in the mandatory proposal currency and that for conversion the official United Nations operational rate of exchange of the day of CFP deadline as stated in the CFP letter shall apply.

Regardless of the currency of proposals received, the contract will always be issued, and subsequent payments will be made in the mandatory currency for the proposal above.

11. Evaluation of technical and financial proposal

11.1. PHASE I – TECHNICAL PROPOSAL (70 points)

11.1.1. Only proponents meeting the mandatory criteria will advance to the technical evaluation in which maximum possible 70 points may be determined. Technical evaluators who are members of an Evaluation Committee appointed by UNWOMEN will carry out the technical evaluation applying the evaluation criteria and point ratings as listed below. In order to advance beyond Phase I of the detailed evaluation process to Phase II (financial evaluation) a proposal must have achieved a minimum cumulative technical score of 50 points.

1	Proposal is compliant with the call for proposal requirements	15 points
2	The organizations mandate is relevant to the work to be undertaken in the TORs	20 points
3	The proposal demonstrates a sound understanding of the requirements of the TOR and indicates that the organization has the prerequisite capacity to undertake the work successfully	35 points
TOTAL		70 points

Suggested table for evaluating technical proposal:

11.2. PHASE II - FINANCIAL PROPOSAL (30 points)

Financial proposals will be evaluated following completion of the technical evaluation. The proponent with the lowest evaluated cost will be awarded 30 points. Other financial proposals will receive pro-rated points based on the relationship of the proponents' prices to that of the lowest evaluated cost

Formula for computing points:
Points = (A/B) Financial Points

Example: Proponent A's price is the lowest at $10.00. Proponent A receives 30 points.

Proponent B's price is $20.00. Proponent B receives $($10.00/$20.00) \times 30$ points = 15 points

12. Preparation of proposal

12.1. You are expected to examine all terms and instructions included in the CFP documents. Failure to provide all requested information will be at proponent's own risk and may result in rejection of proponent's proposal.

12.2 Proponent's proposal must be organized to follow the format of this CFP. Each proponent must respond to every stated request or requirement and indicate that proponent understands and confirms acceptance of UNWOMEN stated requirements. The proponent should identify any substantive assumption made in preparing its proposal. The deferral of a response to a question or issue to the contract negotiation stage is not acceptable. Any item not specifically addressed in the proponent’s proposal will be deemed as accepted by the proponent. The terms “proponent” and “contractor” refer to those organizations that submit a proposal pursuant to this CFP.

- 12.3 Where the proponent is presented with a requirement or asked to use a specific approach, the proponent must not only state its acceptance, but also describe, where appropriate, how it intends to comply. Failure to provide an answer to an item will be considered an acceptance of the item. Where a descriptive response is requested, failure to provide the same will be viewed as non-responsive.
- 12.4 The terms of reference in this document provides a general overview of the current operation. If the proponent wishes to propose alternatives or equivalents, the proponent must demonstrate that any such proposed change is equivalent or superior to UNWOMEN established requirements. Acceptance of such changes is at the sole discretion of UNWOMEN.
- 12.5 Proposals must offer services for the total requirement, unless otherwise permitted in the CFP document. Proposals offering only part of the services/goods may be rejected unless permitted otherwise in the CFP document.
- 12.6 Proponent’s proposal shall include all of the following labelled annexes:

CFP submission (on or before proposal due date):

As a minimum, proponents shall complete and return the below listed documents (Annexes to this CFP) as an integral part of their proposal. Proponents may add additional documentation to their proposals as they deem appropriate.
